

BIBLE READING RECORD

This document is formatted for front and back of a 5.5 x 8.5 inch page, which means it can be used as a bulletin insert, or hole-punched to fit into many daily planners, journals, etc.

The front page is for the Old Testament, the back is for the New. Each book of the Bible is listed. Underneath each is a set of numbers which corresponds to the number of chapters for that book. For example, since there are fifty chapters in Genesis, underneath the word "Genesis" you'll find "1 2 3 4 5 . . . 50." As you read each chapter, mark through it on the Bible Reading Record. This will help you keep track of your progress.

I recommend reading through the entire Bible once each year, and perhaps the New Testament a second time. You can read all sixty-six books of God's Word in twelve months merely by reading three chapters each day and five on the Lord's Day. You can read the New Testament in less than three months at this pace.

"My favorite plan involves reading in five places each day. I begin in Genesis (the Law), Joshua (History), Job (Poetry), Isaiah (the Prophets), and Matthew (the New Testament) and read an equal number of chapters in each section. A variation of this plan is to read in three places daily, starting in Genesis, Job, and Matthew, respectively. The three sections are roughly the same in length, so you will finish them all about the same time.

The great advantage of such a design is in its variety. Many who intend to read straight through the Bible become confused in Leviticus, discouraged in Numbers, and give up completely by Deuteronomy. But when you are reading in more than one place each day, it's easier to keep up the momentum." [From Donald S. Whitney, Spiritual Disciplines for the Christian Life (Colorado Springs: NavPress, 1991), page 34.]

Regardless of the plan you use or how long it takes you to read through the Bible, I hope you'll find this tool helpful for maintaining consistency in daily Scripture reading.

Note: you may want to print only pages two and three of this file.

All Scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for training in righteousness; that the man of God may be adequate, equipped for every good work.

2 Timothy 3:16-17

This book of the law shall not depart from your mouth,

*but you shall meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do according to all that is written in it;
for then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have success.*
